

MOVIE STAR BUYS THE FARM!

We're sure to remember movie star Richard Spend from monster movies like The Vampire Mystery and Black As Night (pictured below). Well, he's scared his last kiddie because he was stabbed to death at a crazy masquerade party last night! Don't read any further unless you've got a cast-iron stomach!

Reliable sources tell your humble reporter that his body was found at a farm out in the north country. Apparently, it was a real bloodbath where more than a dozen people bought the farm! No other victims have been named and the police don't have clue number one about who might have gone on this depraved rampage. Half the corpses were dressed up in robes and masks – it could have been anybody!

Spend's been seen at crazy parties before, most recently in the company of his lithe and lithesome co-star Olivia Clarendon. Did he get involved with the wrong married woman? Stumble into some kind of drug war? Who was Richard Spend, anyway?
