

Daniel,

Montgomery Donovan has sent these samples from Malta with this compliments. He has made great sacrifices to improve their production, and it seems that his efforts have been rewarded. The streets of Valetta are overflowing with sweet honey.

If this alternative meets with your approval, we can begin ordering your personal supply directly from Malta. It would be considerably cheaper than shipping from Los Angeles, and would further wean us from Trammel's insanity.

As for Thawi, I urge patience. He is angered that you reject the fruit of his labor. He does not understand why one would wish to slake any thirst but that for blood.
